Docket Nos. D.T.E. 02-24/25
Responses to the Department's Fifth Set of Information Requests

Request No. DTE 5-6 (Gas):

Refer to Sch. JHA-1, at 32 of 56. Please detail the total cost to remove an average residential customer's meter.

Response:

The cost to remove a residential customer's gas meter is $19.90. This includes one half hour of payroll for a service man ($12.11), transportation costs ($5.04) and materials ($2.75).

The cost of removing meters is charged to the account 878, Meter and House Regulator Expense, as directed in the DTE Uniform System of Accounts for Gas Companies issued by the Department.
